

Call for Papers

Networks In Trade and Finance

Nice, France

October 20-21st, 2023

Organized for the first time on the French Riviera at GREDEG - Université Côte d'Azur, and taking over from the annual Workshop on Networks in Trade and Finance organized from 2012 to 2019 jointly by the Sam M. Walton College of Business (University of Arkansas) and CIRANO-Montreal, this workshop aims to bring together scholars from various areas of trade, finance, economic development, sociology, and business, who are interested in the use and the development of network approaches to better understand the mechanisms at stake in these complex systems that have been severely disrupted over the last few years.

We welcome both theoretical and empirical submissions with the following goals:

- Demonstrate the value of the network approach for generating novel insights into these areas.
- Foster a cross-disciplinary exchange of ideas and methods within the field of researchers in these areas.
- Explore the potential for real-world applications of the network approach that will be of value to practitioners in various fields of business and government, such as finance, logistics, healthcare, transportation, communication, economic development, and social media.
- Study the environmental challenges for trade and financial networks.

Please submit complete papers or extended abstracts for presentation at the workshop in pdf format to netintaf.workshop@univ-cotedazur.fr by June 30, 2023. Participants will be notified in July.

Organizers:

Charlie Joyez (GREDEG-CNRS, Université Côte d'Azur)

Catherine Laffineur (GREDEG-CNRS, Université Côte d'Azur)

Raja Kali (Sam M. Walton College of Business, Arkansas University)